

THE CHRONICLE

CLARKSVILLE, NOV. 17, 1877.

J. S. NEBLETT, J. A. GRANT,
NEBLETT & GRANT,
PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

RATES OF ADVERTISING:
One Dollar per square of Ten lines or less.

RATES OF ADVERTISING:
One Dollar per square of Ten lines or less.

NO. SQUARE.	1 MO.	2 MO.	3 MO.	6 MO.	12 MO.
1 Square	2.00	4.00	5.00	8.00	15.00
2 Squares	3.00	6.00	8.00	12.00	22.00
3 Squares	4.00	8.00	12.00	18.00	30.00
4 Squares	5.00	10.00	15.00	22.00	38.00
5 Squares	6.00	12.00	18.00	28.00	45.00
6 Squares	7.00	14.00	22.00	32.00	52.00
7 Squares	8.00	16.00	25.00	38.00	60.00
8 Squares	9.00	18.00	28.00	42.00	68.00
9 Squares	10.00	20.00	32.00	48.00	75.00
10 Squares	11.00	22.00	35.00	52.00	82.00

Announcement of marriages and death notices—tributes of respect and obituaries half price.

Railroad Guide.
Passenger trains leave Clarksville as follows: South—2:15 P. M. and 7:30 P. M. North—3:25 A. M. and 9:45 P. M.

Our subscribers will please examine the printed direction of their paper, and if they are in arrears, will confer a favor by calling and paying up.

We are prepared to print tobacco contracts on short notice.

CHARLIE LEHMAN is receiving daily at his restaurant fresh fish and oysters. Call and try them.

The first of the week we had fine frosty mornings. The air was pure and healthy.

MR. JAS. H. MOSBY, a prominent citizen of Russellville, Ky., died in that city, on the 9th inst.

SEE PITMAN & LEWIS' remedy for overdone credit, then go and buy some of their elegant goods.

Go to see Sol. Smith Russell next Tuesday night at Elder's Melodeon Hall. Tickets for sale at McCauley's drug store.

If you want one of the best papers in the State, subscribe for the CLARKSVILLE CHRONICLE, and you will get. Only $2 a year.

GOV. J. D. PORTER has issued his Thanksgiving proclamation to be observed on Thursday, Nov. 29th. Will somebody send us a turkey?

M. H. JOHNSON, local editor of the Memphis Appeal, paid our city a flying visit last Saturday and Sunday.

J. E. MOSELEY, Sheriff, will sell on Saturday, the 24th inst., all of the remaining stock of saddles, harness, etc., of E. R. Glascock.

The regular meeting of the Champions of the Red Cross will take place at their hall next Wednesday night at 7 o'clock.

READ the special notice of Ro. mer & Auling. They will sell their stock of uncalled-for watches, etc., at auction after Nov. 24.

MR. J. S. WOODSON has bought the Diamond clock agency of Mr. M. V. Ingram, and now solicits orders at the same stand. Mr. W. is a correct and energetic business man.

D. Grant, executor of Mrs. Sallie A. Allen, dec'd., will sell 372 acres of valuable land on Saturday, December 22. For particulars see advertisement.

We had a pleasant call from Dr. J. C. Steger last Monday. He is a courteous and agreeable gentleman, and everyone who knows him likes him. Call again, Doctor.

We had a call this week from Mr. Louis H. Jones, formerly of this city, but now of Paducah, Ky. He seems much pleased with his new home. Call again, friend Jones.

The Grand Encampment of the Champions of the Red Cross, a temperance organization, met at Nashville last Tuesday. Messrs. Phillips and A. F. Rawls were delegates from the Encampment in this city.

The annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Masons was held in Nashville last Monday. Three hundred and twenty-five lodges were represented and four hundred representatives were in attendance.

MR. W. D. MEHRETH, Jr., leaves to-night for Austin, Texas, where he and his family will spend the winter. He goes to Texas for the benefit of his wife's health. We trust she will return to us in the Spring, entirely restored to health.

DR. W. P. HARRISON, of Atlanta, Ga., an eloquent divine of the M. E. Church, South, has been elected Chaplain of the House of Representatives to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Poissal, the former Chaplain.

We regret to learn that our old friend Major Thomas Ogburn, met with quite a serious accident about two weeks ago. He was riding around his farm when his horse fell and caught him under him. He was severely hurt, but we are glad to be able to state that he is now improving and will soon be out again.

The plank side-walk leading from Gen. Quarles' house towards the river needs repairing badly. This is the route of a good many small children to the school taught by Miss Kate Rogers and Rev. J. H. Gold, and the little people who go by are provided for. In its present condition the planks are a hindrance rather than a help to passengers.

The ladies of the Catholic Church are making arrangements to give a fair on Tuesday, December 11th. The fair which was given by them last year was well attended, and doubtless will be remembered by all who were present as a most enjoyable occasion. Numerous articles will be for distribution, some of them very valuable and all selected with taste. The object of the fair is to raise a sufficient amount of money to finish paying for the home of the Sisters and ought to meet with encouragement from our citizens.

MATTERS LARCENTICAL.

"POOR OLD JOE."

Last week we witnessed a touching performance by the "Poor Old Joe." We thought that in a few days we should meet with the original of that pathetic ballad, but we found him in the Court House under duress, brought about by the kindly affection which that warm-hearted man is known to entertain for infant swine. The circumstances may be stated thus: S. A. Caldwell, Esq., possesses a sow, a matron of the most distinguished porcine aristocracy, who rejoiced in an infant progeny repeating all the noble characteristics of her blue blood.

Joe Turner also appreciated high breeding in swine and cast hungry eyes on the interesting family, and one fine day drove them off to the residence of Charlie Griffin, where some arrangement was made for the equitable division of the stock; but the inexorable law came in and re-claimed the mother and babes in the name of "Squire Caldwell."

Hence the presence of "Poor Old Joe." He is a venerable looking darkey and evidently considered that he was hardly used by the law, not being the right man in the right place. He was no thief! Young pigs in their period of lactation and young chickens of frying size are looked upon by well-conditioned darkeys as no more the subjects of larceny than blackberries growing by the road side; but he drove off the old sow also. This, doubtless, was owing to the tenderness of his heart—he could not deprive those infant darkeys so much needed, and hence Joe's presence in court. Nobly did his counsel, Ed. Campbell and George Martin, plead the case of the oppressed old African. They established the fact that Old Joe too had possessed a female of the porcine race whom he had loved and lost, and that he might have thought that he was reclaiming his own when he drove off the object of "Squire C's" affections. It was urged, it is true, that Joe's sow was spotted and bob-tailed and that "Squire's" black and long-tailed; that Joe's animal was childless and the "Squires" blessed with a numerous offspring—but the spots might have spread, the tail might have renewed its pretentiousness, the maiden might have become a matron and a mother. Alas! the law is sternly disregarded of these night-havens, and we left the Court House sadly fearing that the penitentiary would open its doors for Poor Old Joe. Too true; Old Joe goes to Nashville for three years. We can only now follow him in imagination on his long journey in Nashville, singing with his quavering old voice:

"I'm comin'! I'm comin'! no mercy's here no get your pennyworth fixed for Poor Old Joe."

A LATE CUSTOMER.

Since Mr. Rick has moved into his new boot and shoe store, and placed his splendid new stock on exhibition, his sales have so much increased that they show signs of extending his operations considerably beyond business hours. During business hours he is accustomed to leave his back door open with the key in it. On Tuesday evening about 6 o'clock he went to lock this door when he found that somebody else had saved him the trouble and taken care of the key for him. He considered the transaction rather a mysterious one and related it to Mr. Curkuff, the chief of our night police. C. told him that he thought he would have a night customer, Rick did not much expect it, but accepted C's suggestion to leave Mr. Policemen Morrison in the store that he might attend to the night customer's wants should he happen to come. At the usual time, about 9 p. m., Mr. Rick and his son locked up the front door and left, as if for home, leaving Morrison concealed in the back room of the store, and awaiting his customer. Not ten minutes had elapsed before the key turned in the back door and slowly and cautiously entered the customer; he looked carefully round without discovering Morrison, opened the door to the front room, followed inaudibly by Morrison. Being a customer of taste he proceeded to a drawer containing some exquisitely formed ladies' booties, when Morrison stepped up and politely asked what he could have the pleasure of doing for him. He was somewhat confused with the suddenness of the address and muttered something about having been accidentally locked in. Foolish fellow, he ought to have avowed his purpose of indulging Rick's evident desire of selling at wonderfully low prices by taking the goods at a price still lower than that at which Rick had offered them. However that may be, Morrison suggested that a business point of view the transaction was an irregular one and he had better discuss it with Judge Tyler, which he will do in a few days; he is meantime accommodated with board and apartments at the expense of the city. The name of Rick's customer is Taylor Thurston. He is an enterprising colored gentleman who will, we fear, suffer for his disregard of business hours.

RELIGIOUS.

Rev. R. K. Brown will preach at South Clarksville to-morrow (Sunday) at 3 p. m.

Rev. J. W. Hanner, Sr., D. D., will preach at the Methodist Church to-morrow (Sunday) at 11 a. m.

The Rev. John P. McFerrin, of Edgfield, preached a most eloquent sermon at the Methodist Church last Sunday night.

Prayer-meeting will be held at the residence of M. C. Pittman, on Greenwood Avenue, next Tuesday night. All are invited to attend.

The Memphis Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, South, will hold its next session in Brownsville, commencing November 21. Bishop Keener will preside.

CRIMINAL COURT met last Monday, Judge Tyler presiding, and is still in session. The following cases have been disposed of:

State vs. Wm. Cato (col.), petit larceny. Jury and verdict—one year in penitentiary.

State vs. Jos. Turner (col.), Grand larceny. Jury and verdict—three years in penitentiary.

State vs. Robert Blackmore (col.), Tippling without license—not guilty.

State vs. Jas. Mosley, stabbing. Mistrial.

The court will be in session for two or three weeks to come.

For a long while it has been all for making to make the Methodist Church comfortable, but since the new furnace has been put up, it can be thoroughly warmed in a short time. The cost of the furnace was about four hundred and twenty-five dollars.

DR. H. M. ACHES has so far recovered from his fall as to be able to attend to business.

Death of Mr. Poston Couts.

Mr. Poston Couts, son of John Couts, Esq., of this city, died at 7 p. m., on the 9th inst., aged thirty-four years.

Mr. Couts' death is a source of grief to a large number of attached friends, whose warm esteem and affection had been consoled by his admirable moral qualities and his genial and kindly manners. He was eminently a pure young man, exempt in a remarkable degree from the vices and dissipation which are so rarely escaped in early youth.

During the last year of the war, while still a member of the Confederate Army, he joined the Methodist Church, under the ministrations of the Rev. Wm. Burr of this community he has ever since been a consistent and exemplary member.

He had long been a sufferer from the malady which ultimately caused his death, but bore his cross with such uncomplaining patience that few were aware of his existence.

His funeral, on Sunday, was attended by a very large crowd of devoted friends, and the services were conducted with great solemnity by the Rev. B. K. Brown. Several ministers of other denominations took part in the exercises. The Rev. Dr. Plummer read the Scripture lesson, the Rev. Mr. A. D. Sears, Baptist, led the congregation in prayer, and the Rev. J. W. Lupton, Presbyterian, gave out the hymn.

The sermon of Mr. Brown was a solemn and appropriate. He held up the life of the deceased as a refutation of the fallacy that every young man must pass through a period of dissipation and vice before he becomes a useful member of society.

Poston Couts, he told us, saved wild oats and had none of their evil effects to struggle with in after life. Nowhere can youth seek a better example than in the life of Poston Couts.

The deceased was a member of the order of the Knights of Pythias, and that body attended the funeral in their full regalia and performed their impressive funeral rites at the grave, adding much to the solemnity of the funeral ceremonies.

Just to say that Sol is coming with an abundant new stock of drolleries would be amply sufficient to test the capacity of Melodeon Hall, but this time he makes an additional appeal to the musical taste of our people by bringing with him a complete quartette of practiced singers with a high professional reputation. Mr. Lumbard, the director of this department and the principle basso, is recognized by the press as an artist of first class excellence in concert and oratorio singing. Mrs. Dora Wiley is a prima donna, a lady who sang with distinguished applause as principal Soprano in the Boston Philharmonic Club. Add to these Miss Anna C. Holbrook contralto, and Mr. Louis Pfau, tenor, with Miss Anne L'Estelle as pianist, and we have a concert troupe complete which will give our people an opportunity of hearing good classical music and contrasting it with the trashy effusions of the minstrel companies. It is an opportunity which our citizens will gladly embrace, and will be benefited by doing so.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

OUR old friend, Capt. Tom Reynolds, of this county, brought in, a few days ago, the largest sweet potato we have seen this season. It weighed when dug fourteen pounds. He says he didn't try to raise a big potato, but will try and see what he can do in that line next year. It can be seen at McCauley's grocery, where, also, is on exhibition a seven-pound turnip, raised by W. H. McCauley, Esq., of Peacher's Mills. We were also shown some very fine Irish potatoes which were raised by the Jackson brothers on their farm near the city.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

A freight train was wrecked near Cumberland City on Thursday night with fatal results. On Thursday morning Mr. Partridge came up from Erin and found the switch displaced, evidently with malicious intention; he had it replaced and continued his journey. During the day it must have been again displaced and, as a consequence, the North-bound freight train was thrown from the track and completely wrecked. It contained thirteen cars. The engineer, Sherrell, was fatally injured and died in two hours; Kerley, the fireman, was dangerously wounded, but was alive at last accounts. There is no question what- ever of the culpability being intentional, though no clew at present can be found to identify the perpetrators.

NOTICE.

All watches, clocks and jewelry left with Thos. Rohner for repairs before Nov. 24, 1877, if not called for within ten days will be sold for charges, at public auction, any day after Nov. 24, 1877.

ROHNER & AULING.

Nov. 14-2W

EXTRACT of report from the celebrated physician, Erasmus Wilson, of London, England: "Several severe cases of Consumption have come under my observation that have been cured by the timely use of Golden's Liebig's Extract of Beef and Tonic Invigorator."

MCCAULEY & Co., Agents.

A Pleasant Anniversary.

Last Thursday was the second anniversary of Mr. W. R. Bringham's accession to the goodly company of the votaries of St. Bonifacius; in other words, to the hotel-keeping fraternity. We like anniversaries when people know how to attend to them, and Billy is one who does know. He celebrates these happy events by inviting his friends to dine with him, and then he and his excellent lady give their best efforts to concocting a banquet for the gods—better than the gods enjoyed, for turkeys and oysters were unknown Mr. Olympians.

Billy is a man of many friends and one table was not near enough to accommodate them. Business prevented our arriving soon enough for the first table, but in good time, with an appetite improved by waiting, we took our seat and waited the advent of the waiter. Just after we were seated, Ingram and Riley finished the remains of their last course and arose from the table with a wonderfully satisfied expression of countenance. This little matter furnished matter for very serious reflection while the waiter was still on the way. The latter end of a feast where the editor and publisher precede one is a solemn subject, but we had unlimited faith in the capacity of Bringham's hospitality, and we were not disappointed. There was some delay; the ravages of two such appetites could not be repaired in a moment, but in good time a banquet was placed before us which Helio-gabalus would not have grumbled at unless he were a still greater fool than history reports him. Joking apart, we enjoyed our dinner hugely, and we enjoyed much more a hearty shake of the hand and a laughing welcome from our friend and entertainer. May he enjoy many prosperous anniversaries of the commencement of his reign, and may we be there to congratulate him.

Tax Collections.

The following taxes were collected by the Trustee during the month of October:

	Tax list of 1877.	Tax list of 1878.
State Tax	4,088.44	5,141.00
County Tax	2,532.00	2,532.00
School Tax	5,737.58	5,737.58
Railroad Tax	5,737.58	5,737.58
Total	$19,455.59	$19,100.00

The taxes collected by Peter Oneal, County Court Clerk, from merchant and privileges, for the month ending October 31, aggregate $385.88.

Compromised.

In the case of Montgomery county against John T. Staton, a compromise was effected last week between the County Judges and four of the principal creditors, viz: John M. Smith, T. B. Walthall, J. B. Peterson and M. G. Gholsen, by which the above named gentlemen shall pay the county four thousand five hundred dollars, and be released from all further liability. The county still retains the books, and the suit is not dismissed as to Staton or any other securities. This is the last of the tax cases, and this important compromise, we consider beneficial to all parties.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

Judge Lorton is again in town and will remain here till he holds his Chamber Court in Springfield, which will be the last in which he will preside unless the action of the bar in Lebanon, which we have given in another column, should induce him to reconsider his purpose of resigning. The remuneration of Judges in this State is so scanty that we feel a delicacy in urging him to do so, knowing that he can at any time derive much larger emoluments from private practice; but we are only expressing the universal opinion hereabouts when we say that such a consideration would be hailed as a happy event throughout this judicial district.

THE HON. H. H. LUTON.

A Correction.

Through mistake the first Quarterly Meeting for Blooming Grove Circuit was published for Central Chapel. It will be held at Wood-lawn December 1st and 2d.

WELLBORN MOOREY, P. E.

It Your

credit is one

buy Clothing for Cash at

PITMAN & LEWIS.

The prettiest Ties, Scarfs, Veil- ings, Ruchings and other novelties are at Mrs. Hodgson & Maguire's.

All Sorts

of Frames